NOTICES REGARDING MEAT INSPECTIONSAUSAGE FOR CANADA

Shipments of Vienna style sausage presented for entry into Canada were recently rejected on account of artificial coloring in violation of the Canadian regulations. Attention is directed to the necessity for strict compliance with paragraph 7, section 3, Regulation 24 of B. A. I. Order 211 (Revised).

* Conducts slaughtering.

DISTRIBUTION OF LABELS BEARING THE INSPECTION LEGEND

Referring to item in Service and Regulatory Announcements of July, 1922, under the caption "Dummy packages or empty containers for display," and item in Service and Regulatory Announcements of January, 1923, under the caption "Relabeling products," establishments are permitted to forward labels, wrappers, and cartons bearing the inspection legend but not the establishment number, to branch establishments operating under Federal inspection, without first referring the matter to the Washington office, provided such shipments are made under the authority and supervision of the inspector in charge who will notify the inspector in charge at destination concerning the date of shipment and the character and quantity of materials involved. No such material may be used at the establishment to which it is shipped unless approved for such establishment by the Washington office. It should be observed that this ruling does not authorize the shipment of labels or containers bearing the establishment number.

MEANS FOR REMOVING HAIR AND SCURF FROM HOG CARCASSES

Dr. Robert B. Leeper, veterinary inspector, Denver, Colo., has been granted letters patent for his meritorious invention of mechanical equipment for the removal of hair and scurf from hog carcasses. The invention consists of short lengths of spring-steel cable attached to rubber fabric or belting in lieu of the steel blades customarily used. Dr. Leeper has assigned all his rights to the citizens of the United States of America in order that the equipment may be made, used, or vended by any one without payment of royalty or incurring other indebtedness to the patentee.

Reports indicate that satisfactory results have been obtained from the use of this equipment.

USE OF THE TERM "BOCKWURST"

The term "Bockwurst" may be applied to sausage in addition to other markings required under the regulations. It may be applied also to products in animal casings other than sausage, but when so used it should be followed by the statement, "Composed of," and the names of the ingredients arranged in the order of their percentages. This ruling supersedes previous rulings with reference to the term "Bockwurst."

HOG CARCASSES CONDEMNED ABROAD ON ACCOUNT OF SKIN LESIONS

The bureau's representative in London, England, recently reported the receipt of hog carcasses from the United States showing skin lesions, on account of which the carcasses were condemned. On examination in Washington the lesions were found to be typical of those caused by lice, especially the Hematopinus suis, which is capable of producing very marked pruritus. In the interest of the export commerce of this country such carcasses should not be exported.

CERTIFICATES REQUIRED FOR CANNED MEATS EXPORTED TO COLOMBIA, SOUTH AMERICA

Information has been received to the effect that the Colombian Government requires export certificates for all canned meats shipped from the United States to Colombia, South America, and that such certificates must be presented with shipping documents at Colombian consular offices in the United States.

Inspectors in charge of meat inspection and exporters should be governed accordingly.

APPROVAL OF STENCILS, BOX DIES, AND BRANDS

Referring to the provisions of Regulation 17, section 2, paragraph 3, B. A. I. Order 211 (Revised), stencils, box dies, and brands bearing any of the names or words, individually or collectively, in the following list are hereby approved for use at all establishments operating under Federal inspection, in connection with products to which they may be applicable. If names or features other than those included in the list are incorporated in such stencils, box dies, or brands, specific approval of such markings will be required. However, stencils, box dies, or brands included in the list may be used without further approval in combination with other approved markings, including stencils, box dies, or brands, provided such combinations are applicable to the products, are not inconsistent, and do not result in false or deceptive labeling.

In accordance with paragraph 6 of notice contained in Service and Regulatory Announcements of October, 1923, page 87, pertaining to such subject, a list of all materials, the approval of which is unnecessary in view of this blanket approval, should be submitted to the Washington office in order that the unnecessary approvals may be rescinded and the files reduced by the removal of such materials.

DEPARTMENT INCREASES VETERINARY FORCE TO SUPPRESS FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE

The following press statement issued by the department March 31 deals with the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in California and reports the situation at the end of the month.

Progress in suppressing the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among livestock in California shows the effectiveness of the stringent measures used in combating this highly contagious foreign plague. The United States Department of Agriculture announced on March 29 that no new infection had appeared since March 22 in the three counties—Solano, Contra Costa, and Alameda—where the outbreak first occurred. In those counties all infected livestock has been killed and buried.

Efforts to eradicate the infection, which later appeared in Merced, San Joaquin, Los Angeles, and San Francisco Counties, are resulting in satisfactory progress. At the request of G. H. Hecke, director of the State Board of Agriculture of California, who has advised the Federal authorities that the number of State veterinary inspectors is insufficient, the department has increased its corps of men for combating the disease. The Federal force was increased from 77 to 105 men who, on March 29, were either on duty or were en route to the "battle zone."

Among the men who are now proceeding to California is Dr. U. G. Houck, an official of the Bureau of Animal Industry, who will act as a personal representative of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and of Dr. John R. Mohler, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, in advising with State officials. He will also consult with Dr. Rudolph Snyder, the Federal veterinarian who has charge of the field force.

RANGE RIDERS CONTROL MOVEMENT OF HERDS

The Federal inspectors have employed range riders to prevent contact of the healthy range herds in Merced County, which is a ranch region, with herds which are infected or exposed. As a result of this step to prevent healthy cattle from drifting or straying into the infected areas, current reports show but slight additional infection since the disease was first discovered in Merced County. Federal veterinarians say that this situation is gratifying in view of the difficulties of combating foot-and-mouth disease on the open range.

STOCKYARDS CLOSED AND DISINFECTED

The Los Angeles stockyards, in which a shipment of cattle from Merced County showed infection among 58 head, have been closed and are being disinfected. Previous shipments of cattle from the yards to country points are being traced, but up to March 29 no infection from this possible source had been reported. One hog found in a San Francisco packing-plant pen on March 24, showing lesions resembling foot-and-mouth disease, was condemned and tanked by Federal inspectors and the pens were closed for disinfection. This animal was one of a shipment originating in Merced County.

The status of the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak on March 29 was, briefly, as follows, according to Dr. John R. Mohler, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry:

"Of the 15 counties quarantined because of the disease 7 have contained actual infection. Of these 7 the 3 originally infected counties have shown no new cases of foot-and-mouth disease since March 22. Infection in San Joaquin County thus far has been limited to only one herd of 100 cattle. This is the first appearance in that county, although it has been under quarantine since February 25. The principal infection is now in Merced County, which at the close of March 28 contained 11 herds composed of 5,530 cattle and 73 hogs which are diseased and will need to be slaughtered.

"The State of California has drafted all available veterinarians and the Government is furnishing a sufficient number to conduct the work with all possible efficiency. The cooperative forces are well organized and have ample facilities for digging trenches, disposing of animals, and disinfection. They also have authority for disposing of infected herds with the dispatch which the present urgency requires. It is of the utmost importance for veterinarians who have but a slight knowledge of foot-and-mouth disease to report immediately to Federal and State inspectors any cases that appear to be suspicious.

"The cooperation of livestock owners and the agricultural press has been gratifying and further announcement will be made so that the industry may be fully informed of this important situation."
